ExpressJet June Bid Packet Update

If you already submitted your bid, please take another look. The lines are the same, but they're sorted differently to put them in order of most days off to least.

This was done for anyone who doesn't bid. They get awarded the highest number their seniority can hold per the CBA. That higher number should honor their seniority and have the greatest amount of days off possible.

This was brought to our attention yesterday and we addressed it with the Company who has now corrected it.

If you have any questions, please email me at sgonzales@iamDL142.org.

Fraternally,
