Southwest Airlines CSA Paycheck Shortage Update

Dear Sisters and Brothers:

It was just brought to our attention that some CSAs across the system may have experienced a shortage on their paychecks today.

We have been in contact with the company this morning, and they have assured us that they are working diligently to correct the issues. We have discussed that an applicable solution is to correct the issue, so regardless of the amount of the shortage, you will be paid by tomorrow.

We encourage all members to review their pay statements and report any discrepancies to the company. As always, if the issue is not resolved in a timely manner, please contact your Shop Steward.

Sincerely and fraternally,

Oralia Beecher
